

REPORTED LOST—The American submarine Corvina, built at Groton, Conn., and commissioned August 6, 1943, yesterday was reported lost by the Navy.

Submarine Corvina Missing on Patrol

(From Yesterday's Late Edition.)

The Navy announced today that the large submarine Corvina "is overdue from patrol and must be presumed to be lost."

The Navy, in accordance with policy, gave no information on where the Corvina made her last war patrol, but presumably she was operating against Japanese shipping in the Pacific, where American submarines have gone into coastal waters of the Japanese homelands.

Built at Groton, Conn., the Corvina was commanded by Comdr. Roderick S. Rooney, 35, a native of New York, whose wife, Mrs. Mary Spear Rooney, lives at Berkeley, Calif. She is the daughter of Rear Admiral Ray A. Spear, retired, who was a former naval paymaster general and chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

The Corvina is the 20th submarine casualty since the Pearl Harbor attack and the 17th which has been reported lost. Two others have been sunk in accidents and one was destroyed to prevent capture by the Japanese.

The Corvina, commissioned August 6, 1943, was one of the newest type submarines.

Turf Fan Sentenced For Using Bank Funds

(From Yesterday's Last Edition.)

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Mar. 14.—Short, mild-mannered Charles Stewart Dineen, 52-year-old, $35-a-week bank teller who wagered thousands of dollars of the funds of his bank on horse races—and won—and replaced his borrowings, today was sentenced in Federal court to serve two months in jail.

The luck that had served Dineen during months of successful betting failed him at last when a $10,000 shortage was discovered in another teller's accounts, according to an outline of the case presented to Judge George C. Sweeney by Prosecutor Joseph M. Hargadon.

Other employees at the Broadway National Bank in Chelsea told FBI agents that Dineen had been playing the horses and they arrested him as he left the Suffolk Downs race track. They never traced any shortage in bank funds to him—but he told them about his betting and came into court and pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling $18,000 in bank funds and falsifying records. The $10,000 shortage has never been solved.

Dineen, a bachelor, said he had placed one bet of $17,000 on Count Fleet to win the Kentucky Derby in 1943 and another of $4,000 on Whirlaway at New Orleans in the winter of 1942.

The FBI men said Dineen told them he had won all his large bets.

Labor Draft Inevitable, Wadsworth Declares

(From Yesterday's Last Edition.)

By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Mar. 14.—Representative Wadsworth, Republican, of New York said today he regards a national service act as inevitable. Addressing the annual meeting of the Augusta Chamber of Commerce, he said the need for such legislation is "tremendous."

"Shipyards and plane factories can't hire as many people as are leaving," he said. "How long it will take I don't know, but some form of national service legislation will have to be passed."

WPB Restricts Personal Calls in War Agencies

The Government is beginning to tighten up on personal long-distance telephone calls on Republic 7500—the war agencies exchange—which it was estimated cost $5,000 last year in uncollectible items and processing charges.

An order issued by William A. Murphy, director of the War Production Board's division of administrative services, states that no personal outgoing or incoming collect long-distance calls will be accepted by the big Government switchboard unless the operator is furnished with a residence number, to which the call can be charged.

Mr. Murphy said the restriction on the use of official telephones "was caused by violations of a General Accounting Office regulation prohibiting such calls except in emergencies, and by the expense involved in recording and collecting for such calls." He said personal calls costing in excess of $19,000 were placed over the Republic 7500 switchboard in the last year.

Red Cross accounts are audited by the War Department of the United States.
